addition to a sports motif décor throughout the office space. The breakroom layout includes a half basketball court and shuffleboard court for the enjoyment and benefit of employees.

Mobile Mini currently occupies 85% of the facility that houses its corporate headquarters and the firm's national sales center operations. The design offers two full-size displays of the company's portable storage containers, including one that has been divided in half to allow unobstructed interior views. Visitors to the new office space can effortlessly view both displays, which are featured prominently within the reception area.

“This contemporary office space provides Mobile Mini with an efficient and customized workplace that has been designed and constructed to meet the unique needs of this growing company,” remarks Hammer. “The office space improvements enhance both business operations and the overall employee working environment.”
