Douglas showcases the advantages of utilizing high-quality union trade contractors to achieve the project's goals and objectives.”

Park Douglas is a 137-unit multi-family property located on scattered sites on the west side of Chicago. The new affordable, subsidized and market-rate apartment community replaced a portion of the Chicago Housing Authority's previously demolished Lawndale Gardens site.

The residential assignment was constructed by McShane Construction Company on behalf of the Brinshore Development, LLC, Michaels Development Company and Sinai Community Institute development alliance. Funding for the project originated from numerous sources including the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA). Park Douglas has also been constructed in compliance with the Chicago Green Homes program and includes an on-site, single-story LEED-Registered management office.

McShane Construction Company, along with architectural team Pappageorge Haymes Partners and Koo and Associates LTD, accepted this prestigious award at the 2011 Pride in Construction Awards program.
